SEARCHING THE INTERNET

There are plenty of places to get help with school work on the internet BUT be aware of information that may be untrue, sponsored or paid for. Not everything you see on the internet will help you with your work.

You need to learn to evaluate what you see and check it against the source/web address.

Common Rules to stick to are:

- Do you trust the web address? Is it trying to sell you something or persuade you to have a particular type of view? If it is then the information may not be factual.
- Does the website have lots of errors and advertising? If so it is possibly a fake website or only out to get as many clicks on the site as possible, that is how they make their money.
- Can you back up what the website is saying from more than 2 places? If so it is more likely to be true.
- Have you actually read the information? Sometimes the headline on the page doesn't represent the actual facts, you need to read the story/information to really find out what it is about.
- DO NOT DOWNLOAD any files from sources you do not trust, it could be malicious and damage your files, computer hardware or read your sensitive files such as bank details.
- Ensure your anti-virus software is up to date.

Should any student come across a concern whilst on the internet they are encouraged to visit the following sites to report their concerns or get support:

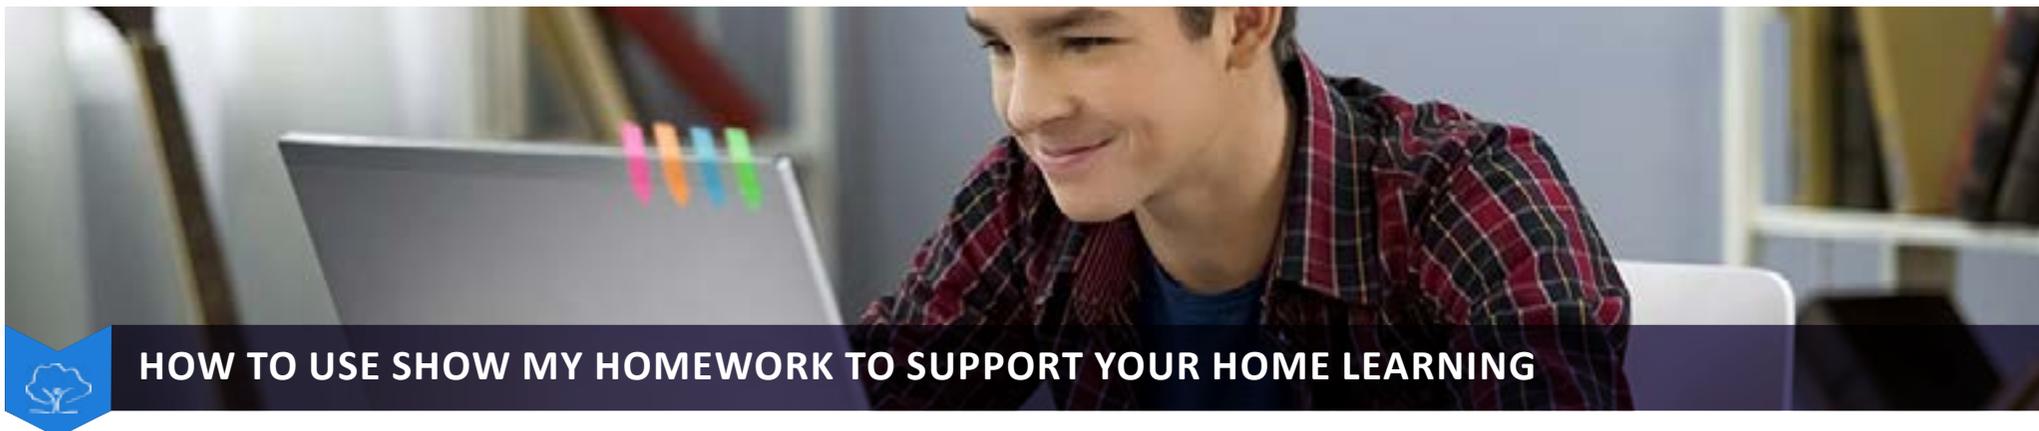

www.ceop.police.uk/safety-centre

www.dorset.police.uk/do-it-online

Code of Conduct

Please be reminded of our expected Code of Conduct which is outlined below for students participating in LIVE lessons. Should a student not adhere to the Code of Conduct then they may be removed from the lesson and parents/carers will be contacted.

Please arrive to your live lesson a couple of minutes prior to your lesson starting. You should ensure you are away from all distractions and have equipment ready.

Ensure that your microphone is muted when you are not contributing to the lesson. Your microphone should only be used when your teacher asks you to speak.

The chat function is there so you can contribute to the lesson by asking or answering questions and should not be used for anything other than this.

Do not attempt to change your profile name or invite any other users to the lesson.

Do not share your screen unless your teacher asks you to share your work.

Please be respectful, courteous and polite to your teacher and peers at all times.

Enjoy your live lesson! Your teachers have put a lot of work into this and want you to get the most from the lesson. The more effort you put into the lesson, the better the impact will be on your learning.

Communication with teachers should continue to take place through SMHW. If students need to contact Form Tutors, Heads of Year or Senior Staff they should use email and will be responded to as quickly as possible.
